

Attachment to Press Release of 27 April 2020 – Fiscal year 2019

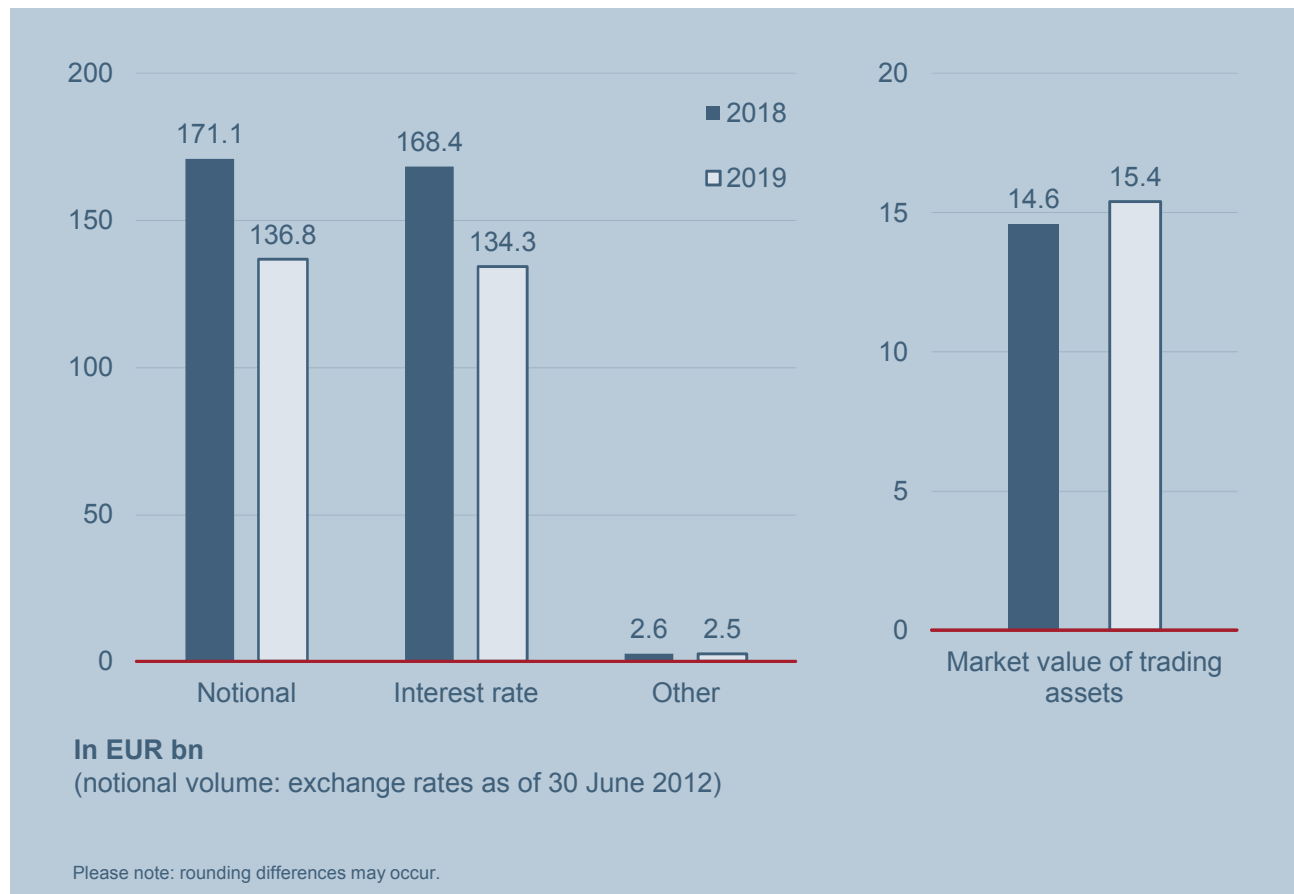

Banking book balance 2019: rapid wind-up with stable portfolio quality

- The loan portfolio decreased by around EUR 1.4 billion (-23%).
- The securities portfolio was reduced by around EUR 0.4 billion (-9%). Around 83% of the rest of the portfolio was attributable to public borrowers.
- Structured loans decreased by about EUR 1.5 billion. This segment was dominated by the Phoenix portfolio (59% share), with a volume of around EUR 3.6 billion (2018: EUR 4.9 billion).
- The share of financial products with very good, good and medium ratings (investment grade) in the banking book held steady at 69%.

Trading portfolio 2019: nominal volume reduced by 20%

- The notional volume of the derivatives held in the trading portfolio fell by around EUR 34 billion (-20%) to EUR 136.8 billion. The portfolio consists mainly of interest-based derivatives.
- In the balance sheet, the products are not recorded at their notional volume, but at market value. The market value fluctuates with changes in interest rates. As a result, trading assets rose by around EUR 0.8 billion on the balance sheet despite the substantial reduction in the notional volume.
- In 2019, the EAA's active measures were once again aimed at reducing the risks and administrative costs associated with the portfolio. At the end of 2019, the EAA launched a project in partnership with banks in order to expedite this process.

Business volume 2019: decline of EUR 4.4 billion

- The EAA's total assets fell from EUR 39.7 billion to EUR 37.8 billion. The trend for total assets does not fully reflect the portfolio wind-up.
- The balance sheet value of trading assets and liabilities rose by around EUR 0.8 billion and EUR 0.7 billion respectively. This is mainly due to the lower interest rate level and valuation effects.
- The increase in liabilities to banks is mainly due to an increase in cash collateral.
- Advances to customers fell by around EUR 1.0 billion. This is due, among other things, to repayments in the lending business and the complete spin-off of the EAA's residential construction credit portfolio.
- The EAA reduced its securitised liabilities by around EUR 2.3 billion, mainly through repayments.
- The total volume of business fell sharply again in 2019. This is due to declining guarantee obligations and, in particular, to the fact that the EAA has for the most part been able to terminate US contracts with loan commitments following long and difficult negotiations.

2019 income statement: negative result due to advanced stage of portfolio reduction

- Net interest result fell by EUR 33.5 million (around -29%) to EUR 80.9 million, largely as a result of the portfolio reduction.
- The negative net fee and commission result mainly consisted of fees of EUR 19 million per annum for the EAA's equity capital drawing limit.
- Net trading result was EUR 6 million lower than in the previous year. The decrease was mainly due to the change in valuation reserves.
- Administrative expenses fell by almost EUR 25 million or around 15% in comparison with the previous year. The bulk of the expenditure is attributable to portfolio management by external parties. The EAA's personnel costs in 2019 amounted to around 17% of general administrative expenses
- Results from financial assets and shareholdings were significantly influenced by income from securities and from write-ups or disposals of equity investments.
